

This Can Only

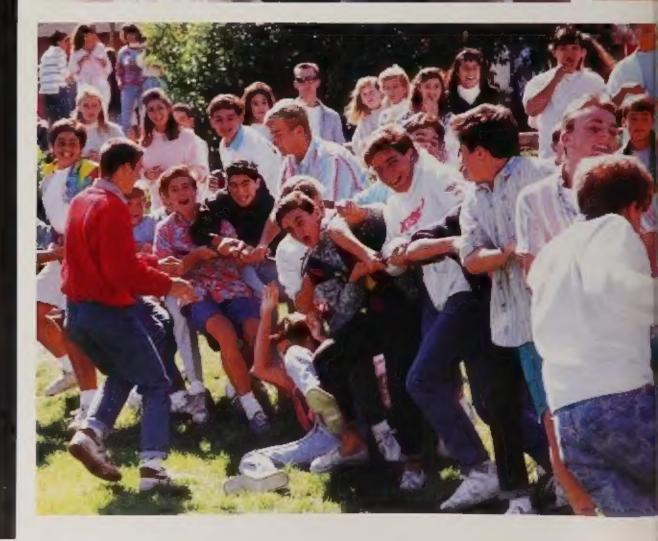

The University of San Diego High School. The name behind the institution that has or will serve as our home away from home for four, very important year of our lives. For 31 years USDHS has passed on the Catholic tradition and private environment to all those that have ventured over its campus. This feeling of security has built the school a reputation and this pride shows in the students, faculty, and parents.

In return our pride for our school really shows. It shows in academics. USDHS turns out almost 100% college bound students. It shows in sports. Many teams end the season as number one in the league as well as students carrying personal records. It shows in the community. Campus Ministry leads the way to helping those in need. But, most of all, our pride shows in each other.

Get Better!

This years theme, "Whisper to a Scream," ties together the various school and extracurricular activities encountered by every student that spends their high school years at USDHS. The 1987-1988 Presidio Staff kept one thing in mind when planning this years book. We want to make sure that every person who takes part in our school will appear in their yearbook. For, no matter who you are or what you do, you should be able to look back and remember your high school years.

Many activities happen over a period of four years. We all start at the bottom and work our way to the top. We figure that as freshmen we began as a "whisper." As graduation day approaches, we get bolder and bolder, until the end of senior year has arrived and we have moved and matured "to a scream." Those who achieve this point leave with a strong sense of accomplishment and responsibility. Those who just began look forward to the future and the day they become the "scream."

Halloween And Spirit Week Scream!

Halloween managed to bring out the personality in all of us. Participants in the contest on the senior stairs consisted of cavepeople, grim reapers, witches, the Brady Bunch, Gumby, fruits, vegetables, angels, devils, catholic school uniforms, and a number of costumes that made walking and sitting difficult. A number of teachers also took part Mrs. Pisor showed up as Donald Duck, Ms. Back expressed her fondness for pirates, and Mr. McLean dressed as a surgeon showing a parallel between his ability to dissect bodies and his ability to dissect minds in his class

During the week of November 2-6, Uni found itself infested with bright colors and strange attire. This, of course, was due to Spirit Week. The enthusiasm and spirit of the students was shown by their active involvement on crazy shoes and socks day, Maui day, disco day, class colors day, followed by school colors day. People had their chance to "express their loudness" by their shoes, socks, and Hawaiian prints. It amazed many how far people will dig in their closets to get noticed. And talk about attention getters, swams of people saw just how talented others were at amateur disco dancing Events of the week included a messy pizza eating contest and an exhibition of class strength — tug of-war.

Homecoming 1987: A

Due to weather and field conditions this year's Homecoming activities were cancelled. Though it brought much disappointment, the football team showed through and beat the Clairmont Chieftans 29-14. Because of the move in game locations, the traditional crowning of the Homecoming Queen had to be postponed until Nov 13, at an extended lunch. The suspense was carried out a week longer with the entire school packing into the gym for the announcement of the winner Finally, true rumors were put to rest. Monica Vanderstoop was an nounced 1987 Homecoming Queen, by unanimous vote

The Homecoming Dance, on the other hand, was a huge success, being held at the Downtown Civic Center. When the students first arrived on the night of Nov. 7, they were greeted by the awesome sounds of Midwest City Productions, back by popular demand after making their first appearance at last years ASB Ball. This years theme was 'Midnight Masquerade', which was represented by blue and silver balloons and masks

The 1987-88 Presidio Staff got off to a slow start, but thanks to the new moderator, Katle O'Rourke, Rod Williams of Jostens, Jon Lyons, and a dedicated staff this problem soon vanished. Working with a new staff and last years problems still fresh in our minds, Ms. O'Rourke moved us into an organized group of 30 students. Everyone knowing their sections and responsibilities. The next step, picking the theme. The staff decided our biggest goal as including everyone. Theme, "Whisper to a Scream," put the book together and includes ever aspect of the University of San Die High School

High Expectations: Delayed Reactions!!

The main purpose of welcome week was to make the first week of school a little easier on the students, especially the new freshman class. Supported by the ASB, many events took place in cluding lunch time activities, eating contests, and class spirit competitions. The end of the week is topped off with the first rally of the year and a mass. Overall, welcome week was a success and most definitely will be a tradition carried on

A Very Special Day; With Special Friends!

University of San Diego High School was honored this year to have a few very special friends visit our campus. In collaboration with Madeline's Sophie School approximately fifty to seventy-five mentally retarded and disabled older people came to Uni and particiapted in many events with Uni students, such as games, singing, eating and just getting to know each other. October 8th was such a success at informing students of the special people who need attention that plans were made to repeat such a day later on in the year. We're sure that this will be a continued tradition in showing how Uni gets involved with their community with full heart and soul.

Charity Bowl: Winning Tradition!

The crowd cheered and rooted at the kick-off to the thirteenth annual Charity Bowl at Southwestern college against Saint Augustine High School. Thirteen may be unlucky, but, in this case, only to Saints. Our latest victory makes twelve wins! Is there no end? Do the Dons lack strength? Do they lack stamina? Obviously not. With our great players, the crowd, and the Uni Cheerleaders, how could we lose? The cheerleaders certain ly can't. They have won yet another competition, the latest being at Sea World. Who can blame them? They definitely have the talent, style, energy, and creativity to be the best! We were fortunate enough to get a taste of their unique style at halftime and, of course, during the game. Who could help but get caught up in the atmosphere? University of San Diego High School definitely has the winning edge!

Senior 6 To 6

On Saturday October 24th, two hundred and nineteen seniors enjoyed thirteen funfilled hours in our gym. The event was the senior 6 to 6. Father David Tassi was the celebrant for the evening mass. Before the dance started, massive amounts of pizza, sandwiches, chinese food, brownies, gummy bears and a half ton of M & M's were consumed. During the dinner hour, an unscheduled pillow fight took place, which involved dozens of seniors.

Dancing to the sounds of D J. Express for three hours were out most of the seniors. As the sounds died down from the dance, the original 1938 version of "King Kong" was shown on the big silver screen. After the movie projecter died, the video's were put in place and "Stand By Me", "Silverado", "Crocodile Dundee", and the famous "Blues Brothers" were shown. Around 2.30 a.m., most of the seniors settled into quiet slumber but a few brave souls stayed up the entire thirteen hours. At 6.00 the doors were thrown open to a spectacular sunrise and many tired seniors staggered home.

Class masses have played a special part in the lives of the students at USDH5. This year a positive change was made. Masses were no longer optional as was the routine last year. Not only do our class masses get us out of class but they feed our spiritual growth and unity as well. This year Father Tassi led our school through the spiritual experience. As teens, behavior is a difficult thing to control, ask any teacher But this year we managed to control ourselves and were even commended by Mr Warrik and Sister Kiely She and Mrs. Gorsich did a splended job on our junior ring mass. It was and will be the most remembered mass of this year. All students dressed in their Sunday best and followed their instructions to the letter. There is something to be said about attending a Catholic school. Class masses let us know a little bit more about ourselves and our peers. They were definitely a positive characteristic of the 87-88 school year. A special thanks to those teachers and students who made the class masses memorable

"The Miracle Worker," the University of San Diego High Schools Winter play, drew large crowds. Under the direction of Speech teacher, Mr. Gordon Cantiello, and Senor Aaron Ovillas it brought about two nights of sold out crowds at the Old Town Theater. The cast worked hard and long every single day up until the opening night.

The group all did very well and were led by the two staring characters. The Captain played by Senor, Tony DeBarry, and Helen, played by Angela Scatena left the rest of the cast an easy path to follow. In all, they did a great job and look forward to seeing them around in the future.

Christmas Festival

The Christmas Festival at the University of San Diego School is an ongoing tradition. Students join together to share in the Catholic spirit and come together in our community to celebrate the real meaning of Christmas. They use their imagination to create new and exciting things to sell to earn money for clubs, sports, the school, and to help the needy. At the same time, sharing in the Christmas spirit of spreading joy and good cheer.

Food Friends Fun Laughter

The 1988 Winter semi-formal, otherwise known as ASB Ball, turned out a great success. The Atlantis, next to Sea World served as an excellent location, decorated to fit the theme, "The Mysterious Orient" About two hundred fifty bids sold and the room filled, everyone seemed to have a gallant evening. People came in everything from Mustangs to stretch-limos; all dressed in their best attire. In the end, all gave the feeling that ASB Ball, sponsored by the University of San Diego High School Associated Student Body was not only their best event of the year, but also a night worth remembering Grandma! Grandpa!

A Day Of Love And Friendship Because of last year's overwhelming success, USDHS once again held a day of honor and respect for grandparents. Grandparent's Day was a day of Christian unity between students and their grandparents. Two different generations came together to share in the sacred celebration of mass on March 11, 1988. Students were able to show their grandparents around the campus, pointing out with pride where their classes were. New friendships were made as students introduced their grandparents to friend's grandparents at a reception following the tours. Photographs were taken of grandparents and grandchildren here. In all it was a special day of love between friends and family when age made no difference.

1) "Hey look, grandma and grandpa — see this is my locker and in there is my history class! They're working and I m not!" Ha! Ha!
2) Lower and grandparents share a special mo-

3) Hey grandmother and grandfather — smile for the camera! Thanks, now I bet you can't wait for the yearbook to come out! You look great!

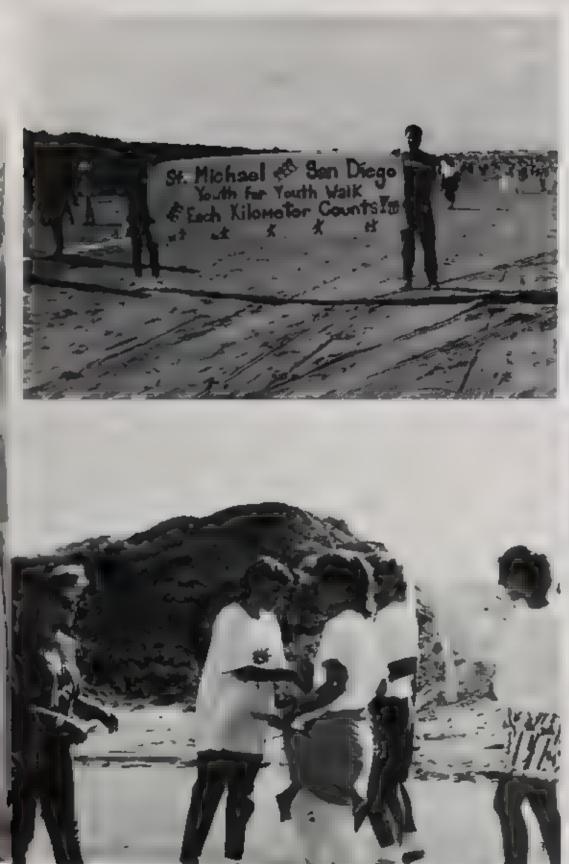

IT happened on February 22, 1988. Some very special Uni students came together on a quest to help the deprived youth of the world. Everyone was wearing their smiles and their walking shoes. The participants made their way around Fiesta Island. With each step they walked, they raised money for the children of the third world countries. It was a Christian social experience that made a small but meaningful contribution to society. The underlying theme of the day was to not only help but to involve the community. Each walker got sponsored by ordinary people who were willing to donate money per kilometer. Each walker was enriched with a warm feeling of giving. They all deserve a pat on the back and a special thanks.

What's Hot

Let's face it. Some things are HOT, very hot, but other things are well . . not so hot. What distinguishes between the best and the worst? Distinctness, individualism, style ... Some of the best this year were prevalent in the categories of food, sports, and types of music. Frozen yogurt and Robertos were the most popular in after-school snacks, while U2, David Bowie, and the Cure were the bands to be watched and followed On the local level, San Diego experienced some national "first". Dennis Conner's "Stars and Stripes" won and brought the American Cup back to "America's Finest City." In January, The Super Bowl was played in San Diego's own Jack Murphy Stadium, while the Chargers turned into quite a hot team.

Trends change all the time. What's in today may not be tomorrow. Fads come and go. Past "cool" items forgotten. Mir rored shades, aerobics, the family car, cabbage Patch Kids, and Oliver North.

Fashion Statements In

One thing which Uni students can certainly be proud of is their sense of STYLE: the way we dress, the way we communicate, the way we appear. Appearance is important, especially in the way that we leave our impressions on others. Not only do Uni students leave impressions, but we leave statements; statements which project style.

But how do you distinguish between fashion and fad? Fashion is evermoving and ever-so-different, while fads and trends seem to continue and be continued. Some trends which have been popular around Uni's campus are Guess jeans, Levis, homemade surfer bracelets, and Reeboks. As for fashion, look around you. University High school portrays it all.

In the Christian tradition, the 1987-88 USDHS Administration demonstrated an effective way of putting ideas into action. The Staff emphasized the school's basic philosophy in their commitment to promoting an environment within the school that fosters growth and learning for each individual. Leading the way for Uni was Principal Brother Michael Wallgren who has held the position for two years. Together with assistant principals Marvin Threatt, Brother Kenneth Gillund, Patrick Murphy, and the returning Adrienne Ward, Principal Brother Michael achieved a successful school environment.

This year, the counselors kept themselves busy (as usual) assisting students with schedules, academic questions, career planning, and personal, decisions. Headed by Lou Centanni, these very understanding individuals always expressed their concern for each person seeking help and worked whole-heartedly to resolve the problems. A special emphasis was placed on helping upperclassmen choose the right colleges as seniors especially displayed their anxiety over the responsibility. The counselors willingly offered encouragement, advice, and even just friendly conversation whenever needed.

Religion at Uni is a cornerstone of the school com munity and of each individual. The USDHS Religion Department dedicates itself to the establishment and strengthening of the unique beliefs held by its students. Catholic Christian ideals are not only taught in classrooms but are also lived out in daily life. Under the direction of Liz Gorsich, the department stresses the importance of community involvement to the spiritual growth of each person This ideal is put into action by several groups on campus such as the Key Club and Sr. Joan Kiely's Service Class. These caring individual organizations involve themselves with the needy in and around San Diego in hopes of bettering their lives. The English Department, headed by chairperson Leslie Howeli, faced the year full of new ideas for the enhancement of its already creative and able-bodied bunch. Improvement of their writing skills topped the teachers' list of objectives for the year. The Department took many steps toward achieving it's goal, one of which was the participation of several teachers in the San Diego Area Writing Project. The project was aimed at futhering the participants' own skills so that they would, in turn, model the writing for students. The Department's contribution to Uni goes way beyond training students in grammar and other basic (but important) technicalities; the teachers also prepare students for survival in life as writing touches almost all aspects of living today.

The practice of Mathematics is aimed at teaching students to think in a logical manner. The Math Depart ment at Uni, under the leadership of Janet Hagadorn, continues this teaching in hopes that the students will learn math to the greatest of their capacity. Composed of many accomplished individuals, this staff derives, equates, integrates, and rationalizes its way to its goal. Several department members attended seminars and classes to improve their skills and pass their knowledge on to students. Mathematics has become an even more important subject in today's world as many careers demand a thorough understanding of its many concepts.

Alarming Facts!

Uni High's Social Studies Department, with chairperson Ron Magianno, offers students a valuable educaion in the history of people, past and present. A pecial aspect of this education is the department's approach to teaching. The young men and women at Jni actually live out what they are learning in the lassroom. This ranges from working on political ampaigns in U.S. Government to acting out the coloual Constitutional Convention in American History o caring for an egg as if it were a baby in Child Development. These activities give the participants a etter understanding of their subject matter, and the tudy becomes more than a textbook fact. Most of the ocial Studies teachers have interests in other areas, juch as music or poetry, that broaden their scope of eaching.

Dan Spellacy New Testament, B A. Religious studies, M A. Pastoral Theology

The Foreign Language Department continued it's tradition of excellence this year. Although there were no many changes this year, the staff seemed to be brighter and more creative than ever. We hope they continue to do so.

Though many of the Fine and Practical Arts classes were dropped this year, that didn't stop the creativity of the students. Some of the classes not dropped were Ceramics, Art, Keyboarding, and a few others. And the teachers of the Fine and Practical Arts are doing quite well with what they have to work with. All and all this should be a successful year for the Fine Arts Department.

The physical education department consists of semester classes with a variety of sport activities, conditioning, aerobic dancing, and jazzercise. A popular off-campus class is Fun and Exercise.

As always, the Science Department delved into the whys and hows of the world in the traditionally curious scientific nature. The department welcomed two new members into the quest for knowledge: Ms. Philomena Maloney and Mr. Steve Miles. With the addition of these two teachers, the staff came on even more strongly than ever this year. The teachers worked diligently to instill an appreciation for life and its mysteries into Uni students.

Seniors: The End Of An Era!?!

It was a cold Tuesday morning in September of 1984. Things were different then. The school was run by a man named Zoll, There was no Uni

1986-'87 opened with shocking news to the stulent body. Murphy was out, Threatt was in. The administration sent a strict disciplinary message o the students; "No collar? . . No Dice!" Students rebelled, the administration cracked down, and Dave Schmitt was no more. Students settled down, with occasional problems. Meanwhile, Ronald McDonald was left hanging last year, Mr. Dundas was teaching US History,

1987 '88 was the "Year of the Senior." In October, the 1986-'87 yearbooks arrived. At a moment's notice, the big Homecoming Game became an away game, to be played at Clairemont High, right after school, in the rain. Many seniors were accepted to the colleges of their choice, some were not, and with the end of this school year comes the end of an era. Times have changed and so has the class of '88

Still Undefeated, Still Number One!

This year's JV football team clinched the Western League Championship as the cap to a perfect season. Their 13-6 win over a tough Mission Bay team finished off their second 10-0 season. It was also the closet win for the Uni Dons Jared Holmes Bobby Tubbs, Vince Guerrero, Tom Tate, and Rob Koh, and Danny Marrucia helped to shut down the offense for such teams as Montgomery, Kearny, and Saints The offensive line included standouts Chris Duffy, Fred Hamud, Chuck Joaquin, and Matt White Quarterback Jeff Desparding continued to throw successful passes to receivers Dean Dodd, Kevin Perreria, Greg Hard, and Andy Penaflor

The Uni Dons demonstrated how to be number one by limiting their opponents' offense to under 900 yards, and compiling over 3,000 yards for them selves. Congratulations, JV. Front row — Rob Koh, Dennis Orosa, Ruel Villaruel, Conrad Reloj, Danny Marruccia, Laura Sexton. Second row — Nia Fager Liz Schatz, Jeff Desjardins, Tom Tate, Dean Dodd, Kevin Ralph, Chuck Joaquin, Third row — Mamc Kennedy, Bobby Simoneay, Ralph Carvalho, Fred Hamud, Mike Genewich, Pete Muzzy, Fourth row — Gene Toye, Andy Penaflor, Greg Hardiman, Chris Duffy, Fifth row — Steve Heye, Matt White, Bobby Tubbs, Jason Burchell, Vince Guerrero, Sixth row — Sean Boyle, Jared Holmes Mike Fenick Coach Mike David Frosh?

There is not much you can say about this year's freshman team, except that they tried. They just could not keep up with the freshman teams of years past. The quarterback, Dick DeSanti, did work hard to keep his team together. His offensive line did not score a lot, but they fought hard to protect their quarterback and the receiver of the ball. Defense held opponents in many games, but they could not keep the other teams from scoring. The freshmen did win three games, and there seems to be a lot of potential in many players. Everyone hopes to see a big improvement when they are moved up to JV. Nice effort, boys.

The 1987 USDHS Varsity Water Polo team carried on the tradition of excellence that was established by previous Uni water polo squads. They entered the season ranked number one in the county, as the core of last year's team returned. All but one of last year's starters returned to lead the Dons to victory after victory. That one vacant spot was successful filled by six foot six goalie Chad Colden, who proved to be a vital asset to the team.

The squad suffered a tough 11-6 loss to cross town rival Coronado in their third of the season. This loss dropped them to number two in the tankings where they remained for the rest of the season. Seniors Darrian Young and Aaron Armstrong led the team as they swept through all other San Diego opponents and in winning the North County Water Polo Tournament. In the end it was our Dons pitted against a powerful Coronado team in the final game of the CIF San Diego Section Water Polo championships. The Dons lost by an overtime score of 6-5 as they played Coronado to the final buzzer

J.V. H₂O Polo

The undefeated 1987 Water Polo team was coached by Jo Wade. They had a prosperous season in City League competition. Led by Kekoa Rosa, Paul Czekaj, and Mark Plum and behind the talented goalkeeping of freshman Larry Denny, the JV squad enjoyed one of their most successful seasons. They won all but two of their games. After losing a one point game to Mt Miguel in their tournament, the JV came back to win the dual game 15-9 showing their intense desire to win and their future promise

Led by top players, juniors, Kristin Costi, Tofoi Yandall, and sophomore, Christine Balestri, the team reached a league standing of 4-6. Their biggest loss was to La Jolla by only a half point. Girls V. Volleyball:

Unity And Strength

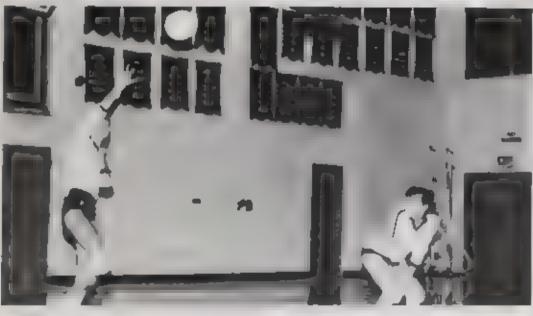

The 1987 Girls Varsity Volleyball Team finished an excellent year with a final 18-1 season record. Their only loss was to defending 3A champions Poway. Coached by Rob Gorney, the team won the 1987 CIFs. The 1987-88 Junior Varsity Girls Volleyball team showed excellence throughout the season as they remained a powerful Western League force. Although overshadowed by the success of the varsity squad, they remained their own team and entered the season with high hopes. They earned the respect of all around and proved that they were a force to be reckoned with.

Starting Off Young, Coming On Strong

Yes, they were young. As a matter of fact, almost everyone on the team was either a sophomore or a freshman But don't hold it against them They consistently placed well in meets and invitationals even when they were running against seniors and juniors. There was a lot of talent in cross-country. For the second year in a row. Kristi Bache was awarded West ern League Runner of the Year. She never lost a meet. The Varsity boys team received team awards at two invitationals. Individual awards were given to top runners. Tom Bache and Kevin Quan. Tom also made the all league team.

Mr Cordon Hannon and Mr Steve Flores helped to keep this team together Some practices included runs to Fiesta Island of Sea World and a trip through Goshen Hills. This team worked hard Good job, team

The 1987-88 USDHS Varsity Mens Soccer team was one of the finest mens soccer teams ever assembled at Uni High. Though relatively young, with only three seniors, the majority of last years squad returned for a run at the Western League title. Second year coach Mark Riley returned to lead an enthusiastic group of players to the best record ever by the mens team.

The team was led offensively by Jeremy Sweet and Mateo Ferrea. Both of these guys proved vital in frustrating the defenses of opposing teams. The defense was anchored by senior and team captain Pat Sexton. Sweeper Sean Lee, a defensive specialist, led the team in scoring goals. Goalie Tommy Tate came through time and again with tremendous saves to shut down opposing offense. He is up for all-League honors. This years team's main asset was its ability to pull together as a team and play some tough soccer. They shall see success for more years to come.

All The Way To The Goal

The Uni girls soccer team started strong this year with victories over Patrick Henry, La Jolla, and Failbrook to put them in the Coca-Cola Radier Cup Tournament. As of February 3, the Lady Dons were in 1st place with a league record of 5-0 including a tenacious win over University City. Their returning coaches Butch Lee and Louis "the Cruzer" Cruz have continued to lead them to victory. Included in the fine array of fine players on the team are stand-outs Carmen Delgado, Dawn Lee, Andrea Lockhart, and goalie Katy Stimeling. The team feels that their key strategy is defense. They are building up from the back, and bringing on a strong forward line. With a good start in League, CIF championships are a motivating factor for the team. Through hard work and determination, the varsity soccer team has left strong impression on their opponents

The 1987-88 USDHA Varsity Wrestling squad proved once that it is a force to reckon with in Western League wrestling. With the loss of last years seniors, the returning team was relatively young. It consisted mostly of juniors, sophomores, and freshman, with only a couple of seniors to anchor the team. In spite of the youth of this team, all of the wrestlers were hard to beat.

With the return of second-year coach Jeff Hunt, the team found the leader-ship and guidance necessary to be successful. His discipline and moral support, as well as some pretty tough workouts, have brought the team together well prepared for the season they faced. Senior standout Marc Dunn was a definite possibility for an individual League title and provided leadership for the team. Sophomore and Junior wrestlers, Stephen Koh, Marc Duggan, Travir Dunn, Jonathon Towle, and Chris Duffy, provided the knock punch needed for the team to be contenders for the League title. This years squad had a balanced attack and went straight for the top with a passion.

They got giant feet and they're six feet tall, they can dribble, shoot, and dunk, and that ain't all, they play basketball

Led by coach Pat Murphy and assistant coach Brian Schmitt, the 1987-88 Boys Varsity Basketball team started with a strong season. They won second place in the Mt. Carmel torunament. They were the underdogs in doing so. There were other decisive wins over Mission Bay, Mira Mesa Marian. The season was further heated up by intense overtime play caused by last minute shots, usually the Laurie Massa special a 3 pt. shot with 3 seconds left in the game. They strove to be the best in a league where anything was possible. They fought to win in a league where such top ranked teams as Kearny, and La Jolla dominated. Sometimes the crowd brought back hope when all had been lost

Starting players were Anthony Massa, Peter Ellis, Bryan Duplessis, Laurie Massa and team captain John Montali

Showing great promise for the future were four sophomore players, who proved that although they were young, they are talented. They were Bryan Duplessis, Peter Ellis, Rene Pena, and moved up from JV in the middle of the season, Greg Santos.

Boys J.V. Basketball

The Boys J.V Basketball Team had many strong platers. Coached by Jim Tomey, the teams goal was the league championship. The team was led in defense by team captain and starting player Dean Dodd. Top player Brian Clemens, showed strong offensive skills and had the highest freethrow average. Starting line up was Captains Matt Miller and Dean Dodd, Brian Clemens, Jeff Leninger, and freshman (the teams best shooter) David Withers. This year there were three freshman, Adam Smith, David Sanchez, and Dave Withers. Hard work, practice and working as a team helped them to have an excellent season.

They came out on top and took first place in the Y B.A. The starting line up was John Pike, Eric Barhares, Scott Roberson, and team captains Ryan Walker and David Silva. Although this was their first year, the freshmen team proved that they've got what it takes to be a winner. We hope to see them again next year on J.V. basketball.

They Are The Best We've Got!

The Lady Dons Varsity Basketball Team, led by coach Leslie Held, dashed up and down the courts this winter on their way to a successful season. The varsity squad welcomed the return of several players from last year, among them talented juniors Anne Casey, Shannon Sexton, and Heidi Davidson, and sophomore Amy Seidlinger. The players worked diligently on their rudimentary game skills in order to blast their way into successful league competition. The energy and spirit of these dedicated girls showed very strongly in every game they played.

The girls junior varsity team demonstrated much promise. They were undefeated in league play, and Coach Gorney looks toward the champion-ship. Starters Christine Balestri, Rosie LoGrosso, Leslie Gardner, and Jill Leninger have led the team in offense and defense. Both Coach Gorney and Tim Franke have worked long hours to help these girls perfect their skills. This team becomes more aggressive with every game won, and they are the fear of the court. Although no one particularly stands out, when every one cones together, it is like a well-oiled machine. The future Varsity team looks to be one of the strongest in Uni history

The 1988 USDHS Men's and Women's Track Team returned again this year with a lot of new faces in the crowd. The team was made up of a men's varsity and junior varsity and a women's varsity. Head coach Rob Gorney was assisted by coaches Gordon Hannon, Keith Warrick, Paul Voss, and Kelly Sisson Each coach took his respective athletes and worked on building these participants into strong track and field athletes, starting with conditioning and the fundamentals of each event

Senior standout Kristi Bache, one of the top runners in San Diego County and the defending Western League champ, returned to lead the league champion girl's team. She is again expected to dominate the Western League and should be a CIF San Diego Section finalist, maybe even going to the state track meet in June She is accompanied by junior Erica Olsen, another outstanding runner, particularly in the 800 meters, and Bridget Collins a fine hurdler Plenty of others fresh faces have the potential to shine as well

Running For Success!

The boy's team returned this year in hopes of improving over last year's less than impressive performance in league competition. With plenty of returning letterman and a whole batch of new runners, the team should be improved over the previous season. League finalists Joe Duffy, Dave Henstock, and Marco Metzger should be top competitors for the team this year. Their goal is to build and establish a competitive team.

The 1988 Boy's Varsity Volleyball Team saw the return of many players from last year like Jorge Beaumont, Vince Marin, and Aaron Farmer. The 1988 USDHS Varsity Baseball Team returned this season with high hopes for the Western League title. With about half of the team returning, new people and returning letterman hoped to combine all of their baseball talents and enter the season with a strong squad capable of playing with and beting any team in San Diego. The blend of returning experience and new experience should provide that winning edge for our Dons.

Coach Serrano is back again to guide the team to victory after victory. His coching experience always provides a winning Dons baseball team. Senior Duke Gonzalez is one of the leading returning lettermen this year. He is an outstanding pitcher and hitter, and he can hold down the first base position as well. Senior Brent Whelan is also another fine returnee. His experience behind the plate and hitting ability is vital to the team's success. There are many other quality players who return as well. With a strong individual and team effort, the Dons are an extremely tough team to beat.

Junior Varsity Baseball

The 1988 Junior Varsity Baseball Ieam saw many new people this year

Up from last year are players Jeff Leninger, Thomas Tate, Gary Remicker, Mike Rude, Bobby Siminou, and Tom Shanner. This past talent and experience combined with the new talent to make the team unified and strong. Hard work and practice every day helped the team have a strong start for the beginning of the season. Coached by Coach Mike David their first game was against Mission Bay at the Kearney Mesa recreation center where practice was held every day. There were four new freshmen. David San chez, David Withers, Doug Abts, and Tony Bedekian. We'll be looking for them next year to add their gained experience to the team.

Coached once again by David Thoennes, the 1988 Golf team had a good season. They blew away their first opponents. They overtook Monte Vista, and triumphed over Mira Mesa. The team practiced hard every day at the Stardust Country Club in Mission Valley. A few players from last year came back to play again this year. One of them being Phil Mickelson, who was in the Shearman Leman Hutton San Diego Open in 1988. Nationally, he was the top junior amatuer, and qualified to be in the L.A. Open. She looks forward to using Torrey Terrell, a returning senior power hitter with strong out field skills. Shannon Sexton, whose stability as a first basement knocked down opponents, and Anne Casey who just plain "hit the ball hard Heather Fares also provided as additional pop to the team."

Badminton — Building A Dynasty

Badminton coach, Mr Miles, had for the first time in his three years as a coach here, a very successful team. Both boys and girls teams, which each had eleven players, showed promise. This year, the team's practices became filled with some different ideas in training. For conditioning they used weights and jumped rope. They also used drills to perfect their techniques, and game time, which helped the players gain experience, and also to learn strategies with which they hoped to beat Patrick Henry and Hoover, two of their toughest opponents from years past.

Mr. Miles feels that his year's team played stronger than last year's. Although blessed with many newcomers, their great attitudes combined with the returning players expertise promised to take Uni by surprise

They had a slow start, losing their first meet to Poway. But they came back strong in their first victory, overtaking Valhalla. Compared to last year, less than half the amount of freshmen tried out for swimming this year. There was a need for girl swimmers due to the amount who tried out for the team. Practice was held everyday at the U.S.D. pool. Helping Mrs. Harper were Assistant Coaches Jeff Smith and brothers Jo and Greg Wade

After last year's squad placed second in national competition, it was difficult for the new team to live up to the high expectations. However, brilliance showed in this year's team as they proved they were number one in the county by winning the Overtime Cheerleading Competition at Sea World in October. Their routine was dazzeling as they blew away all of the local squads.

On top of their competitions, the cheerleaders were also in charge of maintaining school spirit at sporting events, pep rallies, and other school events. Their hard work and dedication showed whenever they appeared, as they led cheers and performed for the crowds. This year's Varsity Chee leaders were a fine example of ho determined the student body of Unhigh is towards excellence. They represented our school as we are AWESOME!

Campus Ministry

The Rosary Club is one of University High's most devout clubs Moderated by Estelle Kassebaum, the Rosary Club meets weekly to pray for good causes, such as world peace. The purpose of this club is to promote a greater devotion to our Blessed Mother

The Liturgy Committee has always been a functioning club at USD.HS. Its major purpose is to plan, coordi nate and implement school liturgies. The committee consists of Tony Birky, Heather Lower, John Bowling, Alecia Wsylaki, Toni Huerta, Monica Vanderstoep and Jenny Fornal. This committee, a part of the Campus Ministry class, functions as a very important aspect of the spiritual sector of U.S D.H.S. The focal point of this year's members is to get the students involved in the school liturgies and make the masses more interesting and beneficial

This year's Expressions in Harmony Club has gone beyond the norm of previous years' liturgy choirs. Besides enriching masses with their harmonic expression, the members take time out to visit retirement homes and perform concerts, and hope to produce a record. The group of students are talented singers, led by the harmonic voice of 1987-88 President, Christine Hewitt. Regardless of singing experience, any interested party is encour aged to join and can even hope to letter!

A wood grain panel show the names of 27 victims of undeservable deaths Each with it's own candle and light Each individual light flickering so life like, as if 27 souls wanted a chance for maybe just 27 more words to someone

And yet we are still so very alive, alive and flickering so much that we could cause explosions, if not out anger, then from inside of ourselves.

Still 27 persons are trapped inside inch-high flames 27 unvoiced expressions, have always been and will be just 27 names

One Step Away Shattered dreams and broken promises, Things to avoid, not walk right into. You set yourself up for the hurt ... Not realizing it. And you try to see with your eyes shut tight And you try to hear without really listening And you forget all your rules The ones created for the sole purpose of protecing your heart. You avoid tomorrow by dwelling on yesterday. Forgetting that today even exists. At some point you knew that a kiss was just a kiss, nothing more. But somewhere down the line, you lost your grasp on reality And you thought, if you wished hard enough, Your dreams would come true, You could talk them right into your life. But words don't make wishes come true You know what is right But right seems so wrong And you learn only through experience, Pain is what teaches you. You make mistakes when you try too hard, So you try not to try. Slowly the hurt diminishes and the picture fades, But you know it will never completely disappear.

Two Strangers Met
One day at a party
Two strangers met.
He drank half the bottle
On a bet.

l 2:00 Time to go home Dizzy, beginning to rock Driving all alone.

Step in the car Drive away. Dizzy, can't see straight Car begins to sway.

Driving in England Lines on the right "Car in front of me" Such a bright light.

Metal on metal Flesh on glass Life has stopped In a vehicle crash.

Sirens down the road Spectators gather around This great piece of art A fabulous metal mound.

Paramedics around "Oh My God!"
"Control that woman"
"Get the strecher!
Let's get moving!"

Hospital
Parents called
Pathologist here
In a room, a body mauled.

"Glass in the brain ...

Felt no pain

Cuts, bruises, lacerations

Definate intoxication."

"D.U.I.?"
"D.U.I."
The father and mother
Began to cry.

They walk out In the cold light "Will he be with God?" "He might"

Lonely and sad

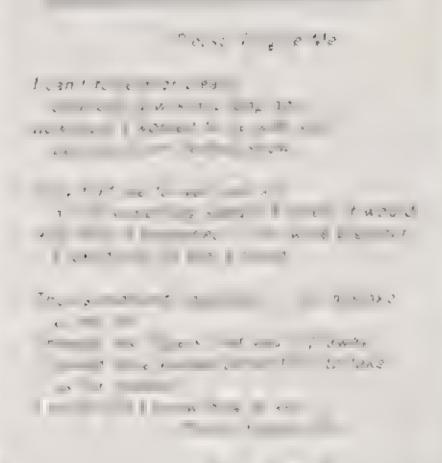

Fyes on each other, set,

Wondering why

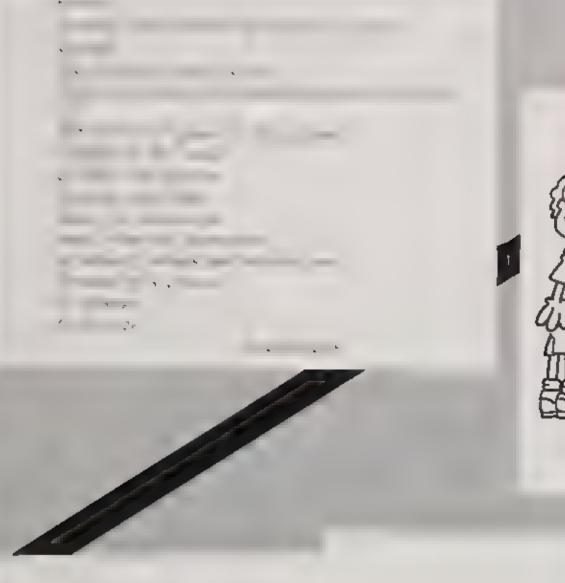

Two strangers met.

Perspective 11-

From two different worlds. With different opinions. With two different ideas. From separate dominions. Meet me half way.

So alike in certain way. We have the same feelings on certain days. Meet me half way.

Both won't give in.
Niether will sacrafice.
Both have ideas
of some certain paradise.
Meet me half way.

Niether will accuse the other of blame. Niether want change But we can't stay the same. Meet me half a way.

Utter Confusion?

Infatuation Crush Love .. All confusing, But choosing which I'm feeling Is the worst. I wish you knew how I feel. Who I am And what we could be. If anything. I used to be so sure of What I wanted, Not I'm not. Do I want you To see the real me? Will you care And love? Could something for us Really happen? Would it last Long enough to matter? So many questions. Could we answer them ... Together?

MY BEST FRIEND

I knew you were different Right from the start.

The way you looked at me. How I felt when we were apart.

Now a year has passed since then.

— we've been to so many places

— met so many new faces

And our feelings are as strong as ever.

I appreciate so much all those times When I just wanted to give up And you wouldn't let me.

Thank you for teaching me the value of love and friends —
"Treat 'em right and they'll be there 'til the end."

You are my moral support My best friend I'll be there 'til the end, kid! I love you Joey Gistaro!

Different thoughts
Different minds
But the souls are all the same
The color may change,
The clothes
The hair,
But the person underneath
Will always be there.

STAY

Sound rushes past me, but I notice nothing because my thoughts are elsewhere. I have little freedom anymore — everything is filled with a hope or wish that has never come true.

The clouds take on strange shapes in the sky, but they never mean a thing. I have no time for gazing upward — I have too much to accomplish, too many deadlines to meet.

Another day goes by before I even notice the first began. The sense of motion has become so useless it seems irrelevent to the cause.

You, on the other hand, slow down the pull — release the tension. My shoulders no longer feel crushed and smothered under pressures of the real world My thoughts are released — given back to me. Time is mine to waste. I hear every beautiful song and melody, relishing them with joy. I notice the glory of each morning as it arrives, and feel no pain.

Midnight

A midnight's dream is all you are only illusion created by fear. I sit along and wish you were with me and watch the clock 'til dawn reappears.

I never knew love could be so hard
I never knew you could turn me so far around You're my fantasy and I don't know why or how
How to make you give your heart to me.

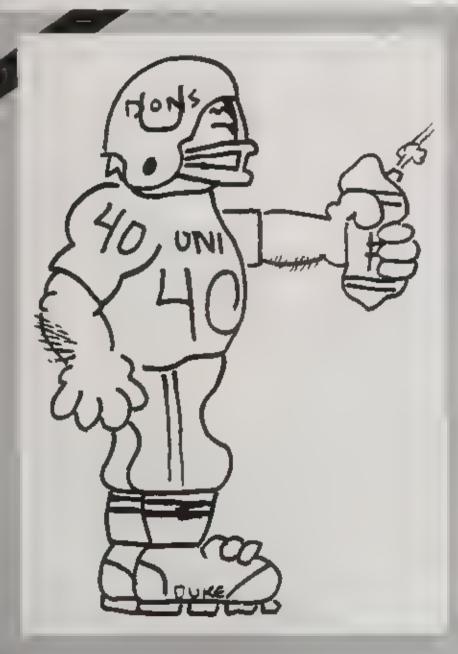

Broken dreams — only fragments of days gone by
Mirror games — distort you before my eyes
Rainbow's died — no longer to be by your side
Midnight comes — you leave through you watch me cry

Nightmares come and go with the wave of time Only a dream, it can't reach out and hurt you Only a dream, a victimless crime. Only a hope, don't let the night die.

The blackness parts and stars shine through your eyes You look at me, I feel our souls combine
This is the thing dreams are made of Dawn's frail light shines — is it love?

THE GIFT OF TIME

The surface of the box was so radiant and reflective, the light was almost blinding Shielding the glare from my eyes I lifted the lid. revealing the long awaited "mystery gift". Cradled lovingly amongst bunches of soft tissue was a small, delicate, and extremely fragile hourglass. It was made of crystal and encased in an outer box made of the same material. The outer box was engraved. The words were tiny, almost illegible, but there nevertheless. Beginning in one of the top left corners and spiralling down all four sides. They read: Love, Faith, Laughter, Patience, Strength, Hope, Courage, and TIME. The word "time" was written in all capitalized letters.

After what must have been hours of staring at this gift and watching the sand, which was made of finely crushed diamonds, glissen in the sunlight, I still has no idea what it all meant. I timed the sand using my watch. I had to turn the hourglass over every three minutes. As I turned it over, for about the fifteenth time, I noticed the corner of a small piece of paper in the box. I pulled it out, It read.

This hourglass represents life

In it, the sands of sparkling stone represent the tears of those who lost what you now hold. The words engraved on the outer casing are the eight essentials of life, time being the most valuable of all these

The loss of any of the other seven will not harm you, but without time, you will die the time you have wisely — enjoy every

Use the time you have wisely — enjoy every moment to the fullest

Use it to master the other seven, and to teach them to others.

Life is priceless, it can never be replaced. Do not abuse what you have, for you may end up loosing it.

You can't prevent death from eventually coming, but at least be able to say you have no regrets Many people do.

Don't let your tears come to seep through the neck of this glass, let them be tears of joy. Let them fill the oceans with the knowledge gained in a life lived to the fullest.

Hardly able to breathe, I put the paper back into the box. My hands were still quivering, my heart still pounding. I was crying, not because I was frightened, but because I could think of so many people I knew who had lost what I have at an early age. I can't help but wonder, do they have any regrets?

A tear splashed against the casing, slowly sliding along the surface to the word "time". Filling the crevices, it allowed more light to reflect. The glow was overpowering. Suddenly, the entire package vanished, leaving behind only one thing, a single sheet of paper. On the paper the words to a song were written. My eyes were drawn to the chorus, which read:

"TIME keeps flowin' like a river to the sea. 'til it's gone forever . ."

FRIEND

I could tell you of a man Who so often gave of himself without expecting anything in

A person who was always there When I needed him the most, To listen to my crazy ideas and turn my eyes towards the beauty of life when I was down. I could tell you of a friend Who knew me as well as I knew myself. and understood my intentions. He was a brother in spirit, accepting me for who I was and what I believed. rather than what he might have wanted me to be. My best friend was all of this And so much more than words Can express.

From him I learned wisdom.
In birth we gain life.
In living we seek love.
In loving we learn how to live
And through life we find death.

We must not give up
On that which is most precious
From our friend we can learn
How to truely live,
keeping sacred the flame
that burns bright in all of our hearts.
To help, guide, and inspire,
He is still with us in spirit
Always.

The phone and the alarm mysteriously began to ring. Adventure—truth—desire—spirit; all were raiders of the mind at the same lost moment—All clock work froze. Time halted, seasons murdered by the extremities of classic selection.

Society hanging on the edge of a rock suitable for a grand picinc Man was the exstinguisher, the exorcist of hope. No supreme light, no sunset.

History of flesh and blood — high voltage. A sourcer could not save us now. No king could pull us from the night or rescue us from the raging sea. Out of time — no arc of faith — the renaissance is dead, the falcon landed.

My Very Special Friend

The very first day I met you. It seemed as if you didn't know what to do. You were a funny guy that first day, When you turned red and had nothing to say. You joked around and made things funny. It was great sharing laughs between you and me. I guess that's why you're special to me; You cheer me up when I feel lonely. Your personality attracted me for a while: I guess it was your look, walk, and cool style. l must say, i still like you Wondering about everything that you do. We've had some good times and some bad, But it never seemed as though we were sad. Our conversations were times to rejoice. cause I was ever so happy to hear your voice. I think of you every night. cause it's awful when you're out of sight. You're cute in your own special way. living each moment day by day. All the laughs we've shared together, Will be tenderly remembered forever. You're my very special friend, And you'll always be in my heart 'til the end.

A special "good-bye" to a beautiful swan. I have watched you blossom these last few years and I am already regretting having to leave when I know that there is so much more for you to achieve in the years to come. I also wish I could be with you for all the hard times ahead. There used to be a distance between us that I created from admiration and awe of you, because you are all the things I am not. Now. however, I know that things are not perfect in your world and that your tears are as real as mine. That is why I wish I could be physically present to give you a hug, but since that's impossible, be confident I will forever be mentally and spirituily there to help. I deeply believe in a special bond that holds we three sisters together and that it will never be broken, even with all three of us separated. I don't have to tell you to be strong, you already are, but please allow yourself to feel and express emotions no matter how painful. It makes us better human beings. It is I that will suffer without you for it was the unexpected tears from such a beautiful swan that brought patches of white to my dull feathers.

I love you Bonnie and I'll miss you. Robin

Dealing with Love

Club, spade diamond and heart What happened to the love that fell apart?

Something was wrong when the cards were dealt Chances weren't taken changing how we felt

Jack, queen king and ace Misunderstanding that was the case

Did we shuffle the cards right and play everything fair? The game that was meant for two is now called solitare

But what can we do?
There are no more plays
no following of rules
Let's go our separate ways

Diamond, club heart and spade Just leave our love and let it fade . . .

When the world was young I was there too.
Running in the fields, smelling flowers under the early morning dew.

It became bright — More light shone through. Then I realized it was all because of you.

You, with your simple ways yet distinct, like nature. It was all there, now. In this world a true tomorrow.

Standing in the sun
Sparkling in the light
Great feelings came by and lasted throughout the night.

The world will be old soon, worn out and battled upon.
But I'll still be there with you.
Standing in the sun.

Each day that passes brings us closer together

Every thought I have of you will last forever.

To look back and see our relationship from the start

So many feelings about you fill my heart.

Things have changed from when we first met

Feelings I have that I thought I'd never get.

You have really changed my world in so many ways

Many nights are filled with you and all of my days.

You really know how to bring out the best of me

Because without you I don't know where I'd be

Every thought I have is always filled with you

When I'm with you you always know what to say and do.

Sometimes I think spending all my time with you is wrong

But it can't be helped because my feelings are so strong

It's strange how everything seems to be just right

It's due to you and our first

You and I are together as one It's times like this when I'm glad We've just begun!

One day I was walking in the desert, And came upon an old man Sitting beneath a dead and weathered tree He looked up into my eyes and asked. What do you seek?" The only answer I could utter was, God. Turning his gaze to the heavens. The wisened old sage began to pray In time he whispered into the wind, Here is the truth you wish to grasp. Look behind you and you will see Where God has been Look ahead, and you will see Where God is going Look around and you will see What God has done. Look inside your heart And there is where

You will face your God.

For within your soul you receive his strength."

Daniel J. Smith

It all begins on day with simple words. A smile, shyly passed between two Eyes that dart quickly — hoping for a response — afraid of getting it. The shattering of silence that begins a new life

Now, suddenly you see each day as another chance.

The alarm no longer signals a dreary repose —

it tells you instead that you have more precious time.

And though that once filled you with despair, time now brings meaning. The morning sunrise wakens the hopes buried so deep, for so long.

And with this new feeling comes a forgetting.

You forget that he isn't perfect, that the world is still human.
You refuse to deal with the reminders fears and part of the past.
You remember that light can outshine the darkness

But forget that no light shines forever.

The days seem to last forever, though they pass much to quickly. The flower is added to your memory The thorns simply cast away. Nothing can disturb your joy — You hand becomes entwined in his, two now as one. And a single night seems to live forever.

for: RW DCM Gone ... But Not Forgotten

Many different people have come and gone
All unique in their own way
Some have been long gone
Many are yet to come — All unique
As the final minutes count down.
The future rushes to class
The bell rings — also in my memories,
And high school is never forgotten.

An Eternal Enigma

I wish I could take time and hold it in my hand Feel the weight of it Weighed against the sand

I wish I could put it behind glass
And watch as it danced around press my cheek against it
Listen to its sweet sound

I wish I could play with time Hurl it into the air A slight breeze blows by it Reflects the sun, such fun is rare

I wish I could fold time And put it away somewhere So it would know I could come back And for me it'd still be there

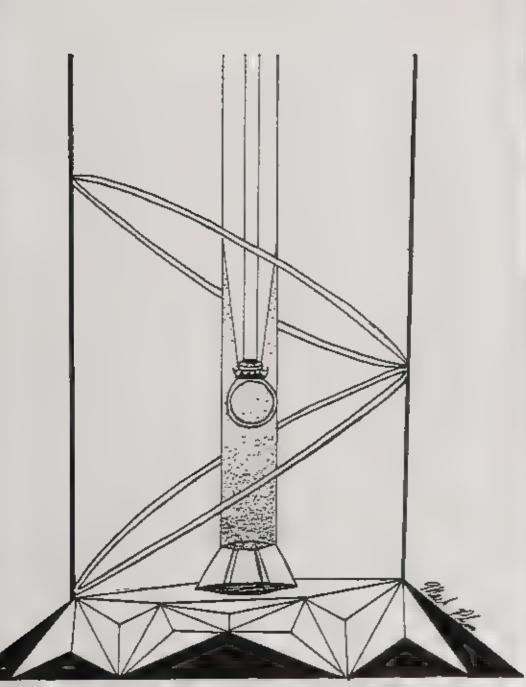

I wish I could take time And make it grow So I could have more of it So my time would never be low

All our time is precious We treasure it as material But time cannot be held Sometimes we have to mull

Will time ever wind back? Will time ever end? Can time stand still? Can time extend?

Know what's in your heart Become what time may be And centralize that time goes on For all eternity.

The End Is Here

For the class of 1988, our academic, spiritual, and social education has ended here at Uni but for the rest of us the memories have yet to accumulate. Although we have so far to go and so little time, one thing is clear, the short time that we spent here at University High School was the best it can ever be

Even though the end is here, it is time to move on. With us we take the memories of the friends we have made and the experiences we have shared, but most of all we take the fun times which will last a life time

Although, the best is still yet to come, no matter where we are headed. We have been educated well, which will prepare us for any path that we choose to take. Thanks Uni, for the good times and the bad, and for all of the ones in between which made a difference in all of our lives.
